SYNOPSIS

This thesis is a survey of theatrical presentations in Saskatoon from 1912 to 1930. No attempt is made to propound theories based upon these facts.

About three-quarters of this thesis presents a day-by-day compilation of professional stage productions and locally produced shows that appeared in the major Saskatoon Theatres from 1912 through 1921.

In the remaining one-quarter of the thesis the theatrical productions from 1922 through 1930 are dealt with under five headings: Vaudeville, Repertory Companies, Local Shows, Travelling Shows and Specials. Under each heading, trends are reported and notable or recurring shows are listed.

A concluding chapter is added, in which the particular years 1912, 1922, 1925, 1929 and 1930 are compared in order to emphasize the differences between the earlier years of flourishing professional theatrical entertainment and its later, rapid decline.

An appendix comparing the lowest and highest prices of admission in 1912, 1920, 1928 and 1930 concludes the thesis.

VAUDEVILLE

The year 1922 encompassed two major vaudeville seasons and one maverick company.

The winter-spring season opened at the Empire Theatre on Thursday, January 5, with the first show of the new year. The six acts, headed by the Aerial Rooneys, played Thursday, Friday and closed on Saturday, January 7. This was the trend that continued for the duration of the twenty week winter-spring season, in which all the shows appeared on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. The first season ended on Saturday, May 20.

In July a maverick company, calling itself Popular Vaudeville, presented six acts in a four night stand. They opened on Wednesday, July 19, and closed on Saturday, July 22.

On Thursday, September 7, the fall-winter season opened with a six-act show featuring Earl Fuller and his Jazz Band. The show closed Saturday, September 9. The following show opened Monday, September 11, and ran until Wednesday, September 13. All sixteen shows appeared regularly in the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday slot.

REPERTORY COMPANIES

Only one repertory company appeared in Saskatoon in 1922. The Hildebrand Dramatic Company, starring Mr. Hildebrand and Miss Violet Neitz, opened on Thursday, September 13, with Smilin' Through. The show ran three days and closed on Saturday, September 16. The company
1922 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix produced twelve other shows during the fall-winter season, appearing with regularity on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

LOCAL SHOWS

Few shows of the local variety are worthy of note. Those worth mentioning include Bill Winterton's 45-minute local vaudeville cabaret which was produced for the Fitzgerald Chapter of the I.O.D.E. on Monday, February 20, and Tuesday, February 21; Mrs. Herbert Cheetham's Juvenile Dancing Class performed Cinderella and the Prince from Monday, April 3, to Wednesday, April 5. The Orpheus Society produced two musicals in 1922, Florodora from Monday, March 6, to Wednesday, March 8; and Miss Hook of Holland from Thursday, December 21, through Saturday, December 23.

TRAVELLING SHOWS

Eleven shows passed through Saskatoon during the winter-spring season, they all appeared at the Empire Theatre. The Winnipeg Kiddies appeared once more, this time presenting their 1922 Revue from Monday, January 9, to Wednesday, January 11. Members of Sir Thomas Beecham's Opera Company, starring Sylvia Nellis and Percy Henning, presented The Beggar's Opera on Monday, January 23, Tuesday 24, and Wednesday 25. The San Carlo Opera Company appeared Monday, March 13, through Wednesday, March 15, and presented Rigoletto, Aida, Martha and Faust. Like clockwork Capt. K. W. Plunkett's The Dumbell's appeared in Revue of 1922, on Monday, March 27. The three night run closed on Wednesday, March 29. Once again from Monday, April 17, to Wednesday, April 19, a 1922 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix road company was Bringing Up Father in Wall Street. The highlight of the season must have been Ethel Barrymore in Déclassée, from Monday, May 1, through Wednesday, May 3.

A road show appeared during exhibition week in July, and only two appeared during the fall-winter season, none being worthy of particular note.

VAUDEVILLE

The 1923 season featured thirty-five different vaudeville shows at the Empire Theatre. Eighteen appeared in the winter-spring season and seventeen in the fall-winter season. In the first half of the year the acts appeared regularly on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, with two notable exceptions. The vaudeville show did not appear for its Monday, March 5, through Wednesday, March 7, run; but rather the show was performed from Thursday, March 8, to Saturday, March 10. No vaudeville appeared from Monday, April 2, through Saturday, April 7.

Two shows during the year received the management's vote of confidence and both were featured in the first season. From Monday, January 22, until Wednesday, January 24, five acts appeared and were headlined by Eva Janguay, billed as the "greatest eccentric comedienne." A Shubert Unit Revue appeared from Monday, February 5, through Wednesday, February 7. The first half of the season closed on Wednesday, May 9.

The fall-winter season opened with a five-act bill on Thursday, September 6, and ran until Saturday, September 8. The following week another five-act show appeared on Friday, September 14, and Saturday, September 15. The acts then appeared regularly in their new time slot of Thursday, Friday and Saturdays, until the year's end.

REPERTORY COMPANIES

The Hildebrand Dramatic Company appeared from Thursday, January 4, until Saturday, January 6, in Blind Youth. They were then absent
1923 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix for almost an entire month reappearing on Thursday, February 1, and running until Saturday, February 3, in East Is West. They presented four additional productions, including Peg O' My Heart and Charley's Aunt. They concluded their engagement on Saturday, March 3, and left town.

LOCAL SHOWS

In 1923 The Orpheus Society once again presented two shows; San Toy from Thursday, April 5, to Saturday, April 7, and A Country Girl from Monday, December 10, to Wednesday, December 12. Other shows worthy of note: a special Vod-vil and Fashion Show sponsored by the Forbes-Robertson Chapter of the I.O.D.E. on Monday, September 17, through Wednesday, September 19; and Mrs. Herbert Cheetham presented a Children's Pantomime Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves from Thursday, April 26, to Saturday, April 28.

TRAVELLING SHOWS

There were thirteen appearances by travelling shows. The London and New York company of John Galsworthy's The Skin Game appeared Thursday, January 18 through Saturday, January 20. Bransby Williams and his company appeared in Saskatoon in David Copperfield from Monday, October 22, to Wednesday, October 24; and reappeared Monday, November 26, and stayed until Wednesday, November 28 in Vidocq.

Capt. Flunkett's The Dumbells appeared in Carry On from Thursday, January 25, to Saturday, January 27. The Old Dumbells appeared from Thursday, April 19, through Saturday, April 21, with Full O' Pep and 1923 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix returned with the same show Thursday, June 7, and stayed until Saturday, June 9. The Old Dumbbells changed their name to The Originals and appeared in the show Rapid Fire from Monday, October 15, through Wednesday, October 17. Rapid Fire played again from Monday, December 3, to Wednesday, December 15. Capt. Plunkett's The Dumbbells ended the year appearing Monday, December 31 in Cheerio.
VAUDEVILLE

Twenty-one vaudeville shows appeared at the Empire Theatre during the winter-spring season. The shows were performed on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week. During the season beginning Thursday, January 3, and ending Saturday, May 31, vaudeville appeared every week, with one exception. A musical comedy called Tangerine was booked in place of vaudeville for Thursday, May 15, through Saturday, May 17. The show Tangerine did not appear as it never left its home base Minneapolis and through an error in booking Saskatoon was not notified.

Eleven vaudeville shows appeared at the Empire Theatre during the fall-winter season. The season opened on Monday, October 20, and closed on Tuesday, December 30. On Mondays and Tuesdays of every week a show was presented.

REPERTORY COMPANIES

The Broadway Players, directed by Frank Maddocks and starring Mae Park, Hubert Duffy, Howard Brown and Irene Blauvelt, presented two shows at the Empire Theatre. From Monday, December 24, through Saturday, December 27, they performed Why Men Leave Home; and on Wednesday, December 31, they performed Up In Mable's Room.

LOCAL SHOWS

Two shows were performed at the Empire in 1924. The Orpheus Society produced The Arcadians from Monday, April 14, through Wednesday, April 16. Miss Janet Crawford presented 100 Saskatoon Kiddies in The Sleepy King from Thursday, December 11, through Saturday, December 13.
1924 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix

TRAVELLING SHOWS

Fourteen shows appeared at the Empire Theatre in 1924. Capt. Plunkett's The Dumbbells appeared in Cheerio on Tuesday, January 1, and Wednesday, January 2; they reappeared performing the same shows from Monday, February 4, through Wednesday, February 6. Stanley T. Vermilyea presented The Maid of the Mountains, starring Ethel Walker and Walter Greaza, from Monday, January 28, through Wednesday, January 30. Robert B. Mantell, supported by Genevieve Hampor, appeared from Monday, February 25, through Wednesday, February 27, performing in Richelieu on Monday, Hamlet on Tuesday, As You Like It and Julius Caesar on Wednesday. Sir John Martin-Harvey appeared from Monday, March 17, through Wednesday, March 19, and presented The Breed of the Treshams on Monday, The Burgomaster on Tuesday, and A Cigarette Maker's Romance on Wednesday. Blossom Time, directed by Lee and J. J. Shubert and starring the original Century Theatre, New York, cast, appeared from Monday, March 31, through Wednesday, April 2. Lightnin', starring Thomas Jefferson and Bessie Bacon, was performed from Monday, April 28 through Wednesday, April 30. Richards, billed as the world's greatest magician, appeared from Monday, June 2, through Saturday, June 7. The Gingham Girl, starring Eddie Fetherston and Madeline McMahon, was performed from Thursday, October 16, through Saturday, October 18. The Originals performed Stepping Out from Thursday, November 27, through Saturday, November 29. Percy Hutchison and the Queens' Theatre London Company performed Bull-Dog Drummond on Thursday, December 4, and Friday, December 5; on Saturday, December 6, they performed The Luck of the Navy.
1925 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix

VAUDEVILLE

Only five vaudeville shows appeared at the Empire Theatre in 1925. They appeared during a five week period beginning Monday, September 21, and ending Wednesday, October 21. The shows appeared on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays.

Beginning Monday, November 2, the Daylight Theatre ran two or three vaudeville acts on Mondays and Tuesdays. Fourteen vaudeville shows appeared at the Daylight Theatre in 1925.

REPERTORY COMPANIES

The Broadway Players performed twelve different plays, at the Empire Theatre, in 1925. Up In Nible's Room ran for two days, Friday, January 2, and Saturday, January 3. Two plays, Lawful Larceny and Fair and Warmer ran for three days. Nine of their plays each ran for one week. They also combined with the Orpheus Society to present The O'Brien Girl from Monday, March 9, through Saturday, March 14.

In April the Broadway Players united with a Regina based stock company and became known as The United Players. The United Players were to play Regina from Monday through Wednesday and Saskatoon from Thursday through Saturday. From Monday, April 2, through Saturday, April 4, they presented The Goldfish; and from Thursday, April 9, through Saturday, April 11, they presented Twin Beds. The United Players then left the city.

The Pepper-Box Revue, starring Evelyn Ovenden, E. G. Handy and Cliff Eckhardt, opened a three week run on Monday, May 18. Their stay ended on Saturday, June 6. They presented a different show each
1925 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix
Monday and Thursday.

Miss Arlie Marks and her Players appeared from Monday, November 16, through Saturday, November 21, and from Monday, November 23 through Saturday, November 28, presenting a change of program every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The troupe left town, reappearing on Friday, December 25; they performed The Brat. On Monday, December 28, and Tuesday, December 29, they performed The Sidewalks of New York; and on Wednesday, December 30, and Thursday, December 31, they performed Lightnin'.

VAUDEVILLE

In a period beginning Monday, January 4, and ending Saturday, July 17, the Daylight Theatre presented twenty-seven different vaudeville shows. With two exceptions each show consisted of three acts and each show appeared only on the Monday and Tuesday of each week. The first exception occurred during the week of Monday, June 28, through Saturday, July 3. On Monday, June 28, and Tuesday, June 29, the three acts featured were the Follies De Luxe, the Russian String Quartette with dancers Olga and Niska, and Kathryn Baird - prima donna. Kathryn Baird remained for the duration of the week. The second exception was the appearance of a single act, Miss Dora Marshall, a professional dancer from North Battleford, from Wednesday, July 14, through Saturday, July 17.

From Monday, July 19, through Saturday, August 7, no vaudeville appeared.

Miss Lilian Dawson, vocalist, and Miss Edith Rogers, violinist, performed from Monday, August 9, through Saturday, August 14.

In September the Daylight orchestra, a total of four players, was enlarged by the hiring of Louis Eist and his Daylitonians, an eight piece orchestra.

During the seventeen week period beginning Monday, September 6, and ending Friday, December 31, vaudeville acts appeared every night, from Monday through Saturday, at the Daylight. At least one act appeared every night and there were never more than three acts in any one evening; but there was no pattern to the number of acts appearing 1926 All from Saskatoon Daily Star and The Saskatoon Phoenix and none to the length of stay of an individual act.

REPERTORY COMPANIES

Arlie Marks and her company scattered eight different plays throughout the 1926 winter-spring season. On Friday, January 1, the company performed Are You A Mason?, on Saturday, January 2, they performed the same show in the evening, for the matinee they produced Cinders. They then left the city, but appeared again during the week of Monday, January 18, through Saturday, January 23. From Monday through Wednesday they played in Where is Your Wife? and Thursday through Saturday in Clouds and Sunshine. Their next appearance was from Thursday, February 4, to Saturday, February 6, in Adam and Eve; and they appeared once more in April. From Monday, April 19, until Saturday, April 24, they performed Nice People; on Monday, April 26, and Tuesday, April 27, the show was Irish Cinderella; and for the remainder of the week Wednesday, April 28, to Saturday, May 1, the play was The Detour.

VAUDEVILLE

No vaudeville appeared in 1930.

REPERTORY COMPANIES

No repertory companies appeared in 1930.

LOCAL SHOWS

Numerous amateur shows were put on in halls throughout the city, but there is only one show of note. At the Empire Theatre, from Thursday, March 20, through Saturday, March 22, Miss Nabelle Slick and the Forbes-Robertson Chapter of the I.O.D.E. combined to produce Mad Capers.

TRAVELLING SHOWS

Only four shows visited Saskatoon in 1930. At the Empire Theatre, from Monday, January 6, through Wednesday, January 8, Sir John Martin-Harvey and his London Company appeared. They performed Rosemary on Monday, Tuesday and for the Wednesday matinee. On Wednesday evening the company performed Garrick.

From Thursday, June 26, through Wednesday, July 2, excluding Sunday, The Canadian Chautauqua appeared in the tent at the 3rd Avenue school grounds which was north on 19th Street.

From Thursday, November 6, through Saturday, November 8, The Dumbells appeared at the Capitol Theatre in Come Eleven. Simon Ord presented Marigold, starring Jean Clyde, at the Capitol Theatre from Thursday, November 27, through Saturday, November 29.
SUMMATION

1912 was a busy theatrical year for Saskatoon. Vaudeville shows were negligible, but there were fourteen repertory companies that appeared for varying periods of time. The companies were: Tom Marks' Company, Harry Bernard's Company, the Allen Players, Harry D. Marr's Majestic Stock Company, the Eckhardt Company, the Gus Forbes Stock Company, the Permanent Players, the Sherman-Cleveland Opera Company, the Orpheum Players, Fred A. Eyers and Company, Miss Jeanne Russell and her Company, the Le Monaie Musical Comedy Company, Sanford Dodge and his Company, and the Lewis and Lake Company. Then, too, over fifty different appearances were made by travelling shows.

If a person wished to do so, he could spend a long weekend in Saskatoon watching: the Sherman-Cleveland Opera Company perform The Follies of 1911 on Thursday, February 29, at the Star Theatre; the Eckhardt Company perform In the Bishop's Carriage on Friday, March 1, at the Orpheum Theatre; and on Saturday, March 2, the All-Star English Company perform Leah Klashna in the afternoon and With Edged Tools in the evening.

By 1922 the complexion of theatre in Saskatoon had undergone changes. Fourteen travelling shows appeared; six shows presented were locally produced; only one repertory company, the Hildebrand Dramatic Company, appeared and presented thirteen different shows; but thirty-eight different vaudeville shows put in an appearance.

If our theatre-goer of 1912 were to return in March of 1922, he would be able to see only one vaudeville show from Thursday, March 2, through Saturday, March 4; whereas, in 1912, he had four different choices of stage offerings in a similar three-day period.

On page 3 of the Saskatoon Daily Star for Friday, October 3, 1924, the following article appeared:

Arrangements have finally been made to open Pantages vaudeville at the Empire theatre for two days only each week during this season. The days will be Monday and Tuesday with the usual matinees each afternoon and one show each evening.

UNSUCCESSFUL FINANCIALLY

"The last two years have not been financially successful in bringing this form of entertainment to Saskatoon," G. A. Stuart, manager, said today. "Vaudeville patrons generally do not know the great expense involved, but to give an idea of the cost of these acts, the bills seen here last season averaged over $2,200 per week for salaries alone. On top of this is the great expense of operating, advertising, etc. The management of the Empire wishes it understood that they appreciate the business given by about 1,500 regular vaudeville fans that can be depended upon each week, but as this is far below the required amount to maintain the vaudeville successfully it will be necessary to have a larger patronage than heretofore.

LAST CHANCE

"Unless a better showing is made this season, it is the last time that Pantages vaudeville will operate in Saskatoon. Statements were made last week that this is the smallest city offering Pantages between Chicago and Spokane. This can be enlarged to the fact that it is probably the smallest city on the entire circuit. Questions are often asked why we not get Orpheum vaudeville in Saskatoon. It would be like building a 20 story office building here at present. And it might be stated that in quality and cost of bills Pantages vaudeville today is not very far behind the best type of vaudeville in America.

Manager Stuart also announces today that in addition to the regular Pantages bills he will offer every other week two great picture attractions. First the Jack
Dempsey series of "Fight and Win" pictures featuring Jack Dempsey himself. Secondly, the latest in two-reel comedy pictures "The Telephone Girl" series all taken from the stories by H. C. Witwer which have been and are still running in Cosmopolitan magazine. These with a one-reel feature news or cartoon feature will open with the first bill here on October 20th and 21st. Every other week will be shown a high class feature picture. These pictures will be big attractions and first run features, he promises. In this way the two forms of entertainment will be combined in one.

Wednesday will be a "dark" day at the Empire each week. Road attractions will occupy the last half of the week instead of first half as formerly announced.

The prophecy in the foregoing news report that, "Unless a better showing is made this season, it is the last time that Pantages vaudeville will operate in Saskatoon.", was verified in 1925 when the last five Pantages vaudeville shows appeared at the Empire Theatre. The Daylight Theatre ran vaudeville acts from 1925 through May of 1929.

In 1925, despite the loss of the Pantages Vaudeville, live theatre was very much alive in Saskatoon. During this one year, in addition to the programs of three repertory companies (the Broadway Players, the Pepper-Box Revue and Miss Arlie Marks and her Players) fifteen travelling and four locally produced shows were presented.

In 1929, despite the loss of the vaudeville shows at the Daylight Theatre, Saskatoon audiences had the choice of seeing: fourteen travelling shows; four locally produced shows; and the repertory company of Miss Arlie Marks.

In 1930, our theatre-goer of 1912 would have had a difficult time finding a professional show to attend. No vaudeville and no repertory companies appeared. Only four travelling shows passed through the city, and only one locally produced show of any note appeared.
